Total British regular and strength numbered about 300,000. 30,000 were in East Indies and Ceylon; 12,000 in West Indies; 60,000 in the Mediterranean, 40,000 in North America; 6,000 in the Cape of Good Hope; 20,000 in the Russian peninsulas. The remainder were in the home islands, backed up by 50,000 militia. These figures are approximate.

Active troops stationed in France numbered about 30,000. 12,000 troops from Confederation of Rhine, not shown, almost immediately available for duty.

12,000 troops from Confederation of Rhine, almost immediately available for duty.

Total British regular army strength numbered about 200,000. 25,000 were in East Indies and Ceylon; 21,000 in West Indies; 22,000 in the Mediterranean; 8,000 in North America; 6,000 in the Cape of Good Hope; 23,000 in the Iberian peninsula. The remainder were in the home islands backed up by 65,000 militia. These figures are approximate.

Austrian forces mobilizing included 340,000 first line troops, and 226,000 Landwehr, depot and garrison troops.

5,000 British troops stationed in the Cape of Good Hope.

British Mediterranean fleet numbered about 21 battleships.

Total French forces in Spain numbered about 100,000. First line troops, and 228,000 Landwehr, depot and garrison troops.

5,000 British troops stationed in the Cape of Good Hope.

Military Mediterranean fleet number 21 battleships.