Jackson struck King's Division of McDowell's Corps here to draw Pope's attention, 28 August.

These routes taken because of confusion in understanding Jackson's orders, helped to confuse Pope and obscure Jackson's actual direction of movement.