Continuation of Bragg's move from Tupelo, through Mobile, to Chattanooga, closing there on 28 July. He remained in Chattanooga until 28 August.

Smith began pushing northward on 14 August.

Bragg succeeded Beauregard 27 June.

Ft. Pillow evacuated by Confederate garrison 2-5 June 1862.

Island No. 10 fell to Pope on 7 April 1862.

Memphis surrendered to Federal forces after Confederate river flotilla was defeated 6 June 1862.

Pope joined Halleck at Hamburg after Island No. 10 fell, with 30,000 troops. He began arriving between 22 April and 22 May.

Halleck assumed overall command of ground forces in mid-July 1862. He left his second in command (Grant) with 67,000 troops which were scattered to protect a variety of points, some of which are identified.

Halleck's advance 1-20 May...